

Shule MIS

Focus on Academic Institutions

Shule MIS provides Academic Institutions the full power of accessing the right data and information critical for appropriate, accurate and timely decision making for business survival

The survival of academic institutions is highly dependent on the accessibility of the right information at the right place and time for quick action and decision making.

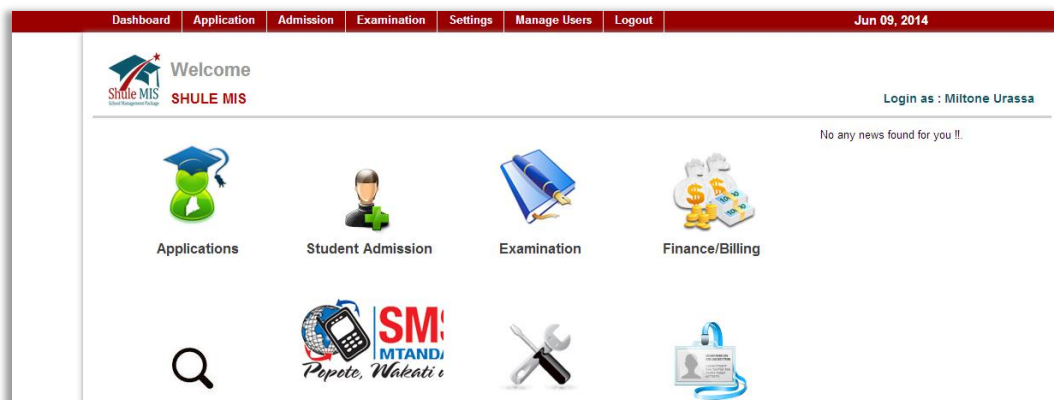

Furthermore, academic institutions are critically faced by the challenge of being able to deliver quality service (knowledge) to their clients for them to see the value for money on the investment.

The operational processes in academic institution are quite integrated and being able to have a single application that can capture all these processes and put them under one umbrella is of critical necessity.

Academic institutions need for digitizing their business processes is critical to effectively be able to easily track several factors of the institution over a period of time and have meaningful reports for future action plans and strategy formation.

After an in-depth R&D in how academic institutions operate, DataVision developed Shule MIS, an application that has being developed to cater for Academic Institutions by capturing all the critical business processes achieving their interdependency in one application. By the integration of business processes, Shule MIS allows seamless flow of data and information between all the processes. ERP Suites can achieve a 180° view of the whole entity.

ERP Suites helps achieve a 180° view of the whole institution in a transparent. This enables planning and forecasting capability.
